Socioeconomic diversity is a core value at our school, so whether or not you need financial assistance, we want you to know that your child’s experience at Campbell Hall will include friends from the full spectrum of economic circumstances. The financial aid program benefits everyone in the Campbell Hall community.

- One in four students in grades K-12 receive some form of tuition assistance ranging from $1,000 to full-tuition grants
- Approximately $8 million will be designated for financial aid in 2019-2020
- While the budget cannot meet the needs of everyone, all interested families are encouraged to apply!

Campbell Hall belongs to the School and Student Service for Financial Aid (SSS) which requires parents to complete a Parents’ Financial Statement (PFS) annually. Two years of federal tax returns and W2/corporate tax returns (if applicable) are required. All Campbell Hall financial aid is need-based. We do not offer merit-based scholarships such as those offered at the college level for a special talent, i.e. in academics, athletics, art, music, or drama.

There are many factors taken into consideration in calculating financial need, such as the number of family members, income, assets, number of children in private schools, and the family’s unique circumstances. In general terms, a family of four with two children in private school with gross incomes up to $95,000 may qualify for a full-tuition grant. The same family might qualify for a partial-tuition grant with income up to $300,000.

Priority for financial aid to incoming students is given first to high school, then middle school, then to elementary school students. Due to the number of years potentially involved in meeting need, it is sometimes more difficult for the school to make awards in the lowest grade levels.

Online applications (PFS’s) and 2018 taxes due January 13, 2020
