

CAMPBELL HALL

EDUCATIONAL SUPPORT SERVICES

Welcome from Educational Support Services

Dear Campbell Hall Family,

We are excited to welcome you as a new or returning member of the Campbell Hall community! We wanted to share a bit about who we are and what we do at Campbell Hall. The Directors of Educational Support Services at Campbell Hall act as a resource for students, faculty and families along with serving as a liaison between school, home and outside service providers. Our goal is to help students to understand their learning strengths and challenges so they can thrive at Campbell Hall. We do not serve as educational therapists who work directly with students, but we can meet with students to help them think through challenges and goal set for the future.

If your child has used classroom accommodations in the past (e.g. extended time, preferential seating, use of a keyboard for writing) or you believe that your child might need this type of support when entering Campbell Hall, please contact the appropriate division director (Courtney Behrenhausen for grades K-8 or Cassandra Cando for grades 9-12) by May 1st so that we can discuss your child's learning profile.

The school requires either a neuropsychological or educational assessment for most accommodations and we are happy to provide referrals and information regarding our specific testing and accommodations protocols if you do not have a current report (within the past 3 years.) Please submit any report you do have directly to either Courtney or Cassandra. We appreciate the sensitivity around the information contained in these evaluations and this report will not be part of your child's cumulative file. More information regarding testing and accommodations can be found in our Accommodating Differences Handbook which is linked here or on the CH main website. Please feel free to reach out to us with any questions.

Warm regards,

Courtney Behrenhausen, Psy.D
Director of Educational Support Services
behrenc@campbellhall.org

Cassandra Cando, M.S., BCET
High School Director of Educational Support Services
candoc@campbellhall.org